Naval Court Martial.

WASHINGTON, Nov 6—The proceedings of the court martial, ordered by the secretary of the navy, which convened on board the U S steamer Hartford in May last while off Montevideo, were made public to-day by the navy department, from which it appears that Patrick Conley, an ordinary seaman John Kelly, seaman, E J O'Brien and Henry Mullins, ordinary seamen, were tried for joining with a mutinous assembly and unlawfully destroying part of a battery on board the Hartford Conley was sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for 10 years, to lose his pay during the term of confinement and to be dishonorably discharged from the navy upon the completion of his term of imprisonment. Kelly's sentence was similar to Conley's, and O'Brien and Mullins were acquitted. Secretary Thompson approves the sentence.

THE NATION'S BUSINESS.

Extraordinary Volume of Transactions as Shown by Clearing House Reports.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—The table of clearing house exchanges to be printed to-morrow by the Public needs no comment The figures speak for themselves, loudly and distinctly For the week ending Nov 1st the following towns have lost as compared with last year San Francisco, 25 7 Louisville, 6 8, and Syracuse 40 9. All others have gained, thus New York, 77.2; Boston, 45 6 Philadelphia, 77 0, Chicago, 74 8; Baltimore, 67.8, Cincinnati 79 7, St. Louis, 19, New Orleans 87 4, Milwaukee, 50 9, Pittsburg 36 1, Providence 37, Kansas City, 115 9 Cleveland, 50 2 Indianapolis, 64 3, New Haven, 27 5, Lowell, 27.1. In New York the transactions are the largest reported for a like period since 1872. The amount of exchanges at New York exclusive of those arising from stock transactions is about 52 per cent larger for the month of October 1879, than for the same month in 1878. The grand total of transactions at all places is 1 104 000 000 against 633 000,000 for the same time last year In San Francisco the total this week is a trifle over 20,000,000, against about 17 7 0 000 in 18 8

The Irish Land Leaguers.

DUBLIN, Nov. 6.—The Irish land league has adopted an address drafted at the national league meeting on Tuesday last, calling on farmers for practical assistance in efforts making towards securing the soil of Ireland for those who cultivate it with a view to the establishment of a peasant proprietary Owing to arrangements for Parnell's American tour it will be impossible for him to carry out his programme of visiting the Irish in large consituencies in Great Britain

England, Turkey and Russia.

ST PETERSBURG Nov 6—A report that a British fleet would proceed to the gulf of Smyrna has caused embarrassment there The people say that if the sultan removes Mahmoud Nedim Pasha minister of the interior, and other ministers in consequence of the menacing position of the Beaconsfield government it would be a diplomatic defeat for Russia difficult to support To prevent this, by sustaining the sultan in his present choice of ministers a counter demonstration by a military direction by Russia might be considered necessary No steps thus far have been taken towards any military movement and it will be the business of diplomacy to render such steps unnecessary

THE DEAD SENATOR

Lying in State at the Detroit City Hall—Funeral Oration at his late Home by Rev. Dr. Pearson.

DETROIT Mich Nov 6 Pursuant to previous arrangement the remains of Senator Chandler were conveyed under escort of a detachment of the metropolitan police this morning at 8 o'clock from his mansion on Fort street to the city hall where a committee of arrangement and a detachment of light guards received it and placed it in the center of the hall at the foot of the main staircase, where it laid in state until one o'clock At 8 15 the Fort st entrance to the hall opened when an avalanche of people poured into the corridors As they passed into the south corridor they were separated into pairs and as the casket was reached the pairs were separated and a continuous line of humanity passed on each side every person bending and looking at the face of the deceased The casket was black walnut lined with white satin the exterior covered with black silk velvet relieved with a drapery of gros grain silk At the head of the coffin was a white floral cross and crown and vase of evergreens which rested on a column draped with crape On either side was a center cross of red formed of scarlet double geraniums At the foot of the casket was another column draped in black, on which was placed a sheaf of wheat with a white floral sickle forming a beautiful and touching symbolism of the ripe fullness of the departed before being cut down by the great reaper, Death On top of the coffin was a floral star given by the Chicago Union Veteran Club Over head the remains were covered by a canopy of red white and blue streamers intermingled with folds of crape descending in graceful lines to the four corners of the center section The ceaseless stream of people which poured through the building in two continuous lines lasted from 8 15 A M till 1 P M, and it is estimated that during the time intervening not less than 19 000 persons viewed the remains The body was removed to the Fort street mansion shortly after 1 P M where religious exercises were conducted by Rev Dr. Pearson He paid a warm tribute to the deceased statesman

Respect to the Memory of Senator Chandler.

WASHINGTON, Nov 5—A meeting of officers clerks and employes of the interior department was held to-day Secretary Schurz presided, and Solicitor Marble and Assistant Secretary Bell in brief addresses, expressed the kindly feeling entertained towards Senator Chandler by those who had served under him when he was secretary of the interior. Resolutions at length were adopted

ANOTHER MEXICAN REVOLUTION IMPENDING.

An Organized Revolutionary Government Seeking Assistance from the United States—A Remarkable Offer.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Nov, 6—An agent of the government of the restoration of the republic of Mexico of which Gen Angel Maria Corvillo do Abornoz is president, is in this city endeavoring to negotiate for material aid to further their schemes for the overthrow of Diaz It is asserted that a very large proportion of the population of Mexico is dissatisfied with the government of Diaz, that this dissatisfaction has taken the shape of an organized revolutionary government which includes many of the most distinguished Mexican soldiers and politicians and that an outbreak which will involve several of the most important Mexican states is imminent, The agent invites capitalists who are now considering a scheme, to supply the revolutionists arms and military supplies, in return for which they are to be granted

First—Authority to organize the national bank of Mexico the notes of which are to be legal tender for all debts public and private, and to be receivable in payment for public lands at the rate of $1 per acre—all public lands of Mexico to be set apart for this purpose

Second—Franchises for railways and telegraphs throughout Mexico and subsidies in bonds and national bank notes sufficient for their construction

Third—The abolition of all duties on the importation of goods from the United States into Mexico by land across the line The rights of immigrants are guaranteed, Taxation and service in the Mexican army for a stated period is demanded, and religious tolerance assured There seems to be no doubt that very influential men in Mexico are concerned in the movement and some of the heaviest capitalists of the Pacific coast are now examining it with a view to engage if it promises success

By a private letter from a prominent gentleman in Boston, we learn that the same scheme has been submitted to capitalists who own the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad These gentlemen have already sent an agent to Mexico to endeavor to obtain from Diaz franchises so far as their company are concerned and failing in that they have promised to give the scheme their earnest attention.

Against Malthus and Pessimism.

Prof Bowen has an article in the November number of the North American Review on Malthusianism, Darwinism and Pessimism, in which he first gives a historical sketch of the progress of Mr Malthus theory concerning the relative increase of population in a geometrical ratio compared with that of the means of subsistence, which is in an arithmetical ratio thus compelling the poverty and wretchedness of a large proportion of the inhabitants of the globe and then proceeds to argue that the theory is ill founded and not true He says it was widely accepted by the most prominent writers on political economy for a period of about fifty years when it was quietly dropped, and since the middle of the present century the doctrines of Malthus and his followers have but few advocates among English thinkers The same ideas however, he affirms have been recently proclaimed in a different form by Mr Darwin and other students of natural science and have also made their appearance in a singularly repulsive aspect in the speculations of Schopenhauer, Hartmann Mainlander and other writers of the modern school of German Pessimism Prof Bowen presents many remarkable details showing the rapid advance of the philosophy of [illegible] and the fatal consequences of it [illegible] on [illegible] civilization but on the very existence of human life and so[illegible]

HOW TO POWDER

DO NOT THROW IT ON—THE MANNER IN WHICH THE FRENCH WOMEN DO IT IT IS A RICH AND DELICATE ART

Why otherwise sensible women will slap pearl powder upon their faces apparently from a dredging box as a cook prepares a shoulder of mutton for the oven and with about as little art the Lord only knows That it is so any man who gives his dear unmarried aunt a chaste salute now and then and would be pleased to kiss the cheek of his pretty cousin something oftener, knows that he has to dust the Saunders extra or Lubin's violet out of his moustache afterwards and "pouff" away the Palmer's invincible ere he is ready to put up his right hand and—assert Yet woman affront the face of high heaven in this guise as serenely as Mr Bryant wrapping the drapery of his couch about him in "Thanatopsis"

If women will powder—and they will you may be sure, and those who have done so for years say they must keep on—let them do it like an artist, and not like a baker's apprentice Take a lesson from the Parisian who takes twenty years off her life between her cup of cafe au lait, before she rises in the morning and the completion of her toilet at noon One who has assisted at the toilet of a genuine Frenchwoman says she began by submitting herself to her maid, who subjected her face to a friction of alder flower water which gave the sallow face a clear tint of ivory every impurity of the skin yielding to this bath which had been preceded of course, by the usual tepid one and a shower of five minutes before dressing began After the alder flower wash a delicate creme similar to cold cream but without the lard—the juice of the lettuce being its main ingredient was laid over the whole skin of the face neck and arms and allowed to remain ten minutes This is to soften the skin and drive away impertinent wrinkles (After the fatigues of a ball the Parisian composed her features with camphor and cream) Next came the removal of every trace of the cream with a fine linen cloth the delicate rubbing necessary in this operation polishing the skin to a satin-like smoothness The next process was the application of the veloutine, a compound of bismuth and rice powder of which all the wonderful balms of great and beautiful forevers are composed—having the fixative quality of the first and the delicacy of the last ingredient Put on the care with which the maid applies the preparation Being thus laid on it was absolutely impossible to detect the presence of any foreign aid The skin had the firm clear whiteness of alabaster with a suggestion of sunniness and creamy luster to subdue it Nobody but her husband (poor man) and her maid knew the la[illegible] in the case

THE WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

OLYMPIA, Nov [illegible]

This has been a regular field day in the [illegible] Both morning and afternoon sessions were taken up in the discussion of the local option bill The continued agitation has brought nearly all of the members to their feet and the house the lobby and [illegible] of which was packed with ladies and gentlemen from all parts of the sound The interest manifested in this bill is something remarkable and both its friends and foes received unstinted applause at the close of their respective remarks The final vote stood 17 against the bill and 13 in its favor It is consequently killed It may possibly be of interest to readers in this territory to know those who took prominent parts in the discussion of the bill and I therefore give a short synopsis of the speeches as made

Mr White opposed the bill upon the ground that in the existing law it belongs the right to legislate as to what shall be the law—declaring that it can not delegate that power to the people The people have no power to make laws in their primary capacity The legislature then becomes a mere proposer of laws subject to the action of the people Again by this law the people having the majority of unprincipled men and women in any election precinct might authorize the most flagrant and outrageous actions of iniquity By a more imaginary line the people of one precinct would have the power to sell liquor and in the adjoining, one be prohibited Where the majority sign it is the law When they do not sign it is against the law All laws should have uniformity Again by this bill but 30 days residence is required to exercise this right, while the laws of the territory require six months residence herein to become a legal voter Consequently men and women vote to what shall be a law who cannot even vote for the law makers

Mr Wood was surprised that gentlemen assuming to be advocates of human rights should be found opposing this bill He drew attention to the women and children crowding the floors of the house and asked why they were there He stated that we have two systems of education One our schools and churches, the other our barrooms On education proper we spend $50 000 annually for barrooms $1 200 000 being $36 for every man woman and child in our territory

Speaker Steward—(from in the chair) said it was the evident intention of the member from King (White) to mislead a house concerning the legal aspect of this bill Interested every inhabitant of the territory for a time to come The supreme court of the United States had already passed upon similar laws and declared them constitutional Mr White had stated that a revenue of $7000 was obtained in Seattle through this source Only a few days ago $2,000 was appropriated to foster education in that city It reminded him of the old days when the government was fighting slavery with one hand and aiding it with the other Defeat this bill and you tell the women and children in your midst now anxiously looking upon us that they have no rights which the dram drinker is bound to respect

White in reply thanked God that none but respectable and honest men were allowed to sell liquor in Washington territory—quoting the law that no license should be given until satisfactory proof of good moral character was offered He admitted the schools were educators of the children but denied that the churches were He said talk not to me that your churches are the guardians of what is right Let them preach true religion and not intolerance and bigotry Their doors are barred against the drunkard it are opened wide to the money changers—to silks and satins rustic there

Smith declared he had been temperance man from boyhood but would oppose this law because it was an abortion and not worth the paper it was written on By it you can't buy by the glass but by the gallon Make a law bidding the traffic entirely and he would vote for

Ward thought half a loaf better than no bread

Perkins knew of no instance where the doors of a church had been closed against a drunkard, but the helping hand had always been extended to him

Trip thought it was the women and children who crowded these halls who were interested and did not dream that the Christian religion would be attacked If it was true as White said that Noah was the first minister who disgraced himself, it is also true that he never disgraced himself until he got drunk He believed in 'taste not touch not, handle not, has not yet affected the morals of the community, but thaws upon our statute books The upholders of religion had always been opposed to liquor selling Lost 17 to 13

FRIDAY MORNING NOV 7 1879

PRESIDENT HAYES AND HIS PARTY

Republicans now should be in a mood to give President Hayes the credit due him His administration is a reputable one It is not defiled by scandals tainted by obs r shamed by disgraceful transactions in any shape. Its faithful attention to business its conservative moderation its good moral tone and general reputableness have disarmed c ti cism and won the general esteem of the country True these are things which partisanship may deny But there is another test Under the present administration the republican party has rapidly gained credit and strength All see that it has obtained a new lease of vigor and growth Usually an administration loses strength in the first half of its term. In the case of this administration it has been different. What is the reason? It has been faithful to duty respectable in its methods moderate and conciliatory in its policy For a number of years prior to 1876 the republican party had been losing large numbers of independent voters This fact there is no use to deny The migrations had become so large that four northern states were lost in 1876 and in several others the party barely saved itself From the returns of the recent elections it is however, undeniable that the party is rapidly recovering the strength it had lost The voters who were alienated have returned, or are returning to it. No doubt the course pursued by the democrats in congress and the conduct of the solid south have done great things toward bringing republicans together But there has been something more The course of the administration has been such as to unite all republicans upon a common platform and the party is immensely stronger in numbers in harmony and in moral force than upon the day of Mr Hayes accession to the presidency Not only have reputable methods of administration been pursued, but a course has been followed which has conciliated opposing interests in the party, calmed dissensions and made it possible for republicans to act together

It will not be denied that during the administration of President Grant large divisions were created in the republican party In repeated instances men of influence and character were treated with extreme and most unnecessary harshness The whole political patronage, and with it the political power in each state was placed in the hands of senators,—or rather they were permitted to usurp it and the power so seized was used by the senators for their own personal ends The policy did not encourage or even tolerate a manly independence in the counsels of the party, but required everything to be subordinate to the wishes of the senator, who in each case became the autocrat of his state A power so usurped and used for such objects, was, of course, often abused. Men who criticised the system, or refused to yield obedience to it, were virtually forced out of the party, or at least into a position of seeming antagonism to it In politics arrogance and injustice are always fruitful of dissensions No man of spirit will brook what seems to him wanton insult. No man whose influence and character are of consequence enough to be of importance to his party will surrender his judgment to one whom circumstances have made a temporary political chief or yield his services with unquestioning obedience to personal dictation It is not in human nature, and fortunate it is for the dignity of human nature that it is not The policy which was pursued in the republican party for years was the despotic policy of crushing every man who declined to confess an allegiance to the ambitious political leader If the leader simply wished to assert a power he temporarily held, and to show what he could do, regardless of consequences it was well enough But if he wished to strengthen his party or himself he was pursuing a most woefully mistaken course The very essence of discipline necessary to hold an army together will, if applied to politics, dissolve a party at once. The coherency of a party depends solely on the free consent of its individual members. No despotic authority to punish independence as mutiny or to shoot dissenters as deserters, is recognized. Party is founded on the voluntary association of men for promotion of some common principle upon which they are all agreed. Its best security is in allowing the widest possible latitude of opinion and action consistent with its very general purposes. There is in a party no divine right of leadership, and he who assumes to be a dictator either wrecks his party, or his party casts him out These are extremely simple principles. Yet because they were disregarded by the democratic party in the days of its power that party was divided and overthrown And largely because they were disregarded by republican leaders during the last administration the republican party was brought in 1876 to the brink of defeat. The men who had been virtually thrust out of the party became so numerous that the party's success was endangered without them

Under President Hayes a different course has been pursued Self appointed leaders and dictators have not been permitted to assert their authority Liberality has characterized the administration, The fight of factions has been stopped It has been made possible for men who were excluded from the councils of the party to associate with it again without forfeiture of their self-respect President Hayes therefore, while he has given the country a reputable administration, and has thereby contributed much to the strength his party has shown in the recent elections has also done much to harmonize its differences elevate its moral tone and bring back to it a class of men who had been repelled both by unjust personal treatment and by the use of methods which first produced disgust and then revolt. It is safe to say that during the remainder of his term those who have been unable to have their way with him will be less inclined to make war on him

A NEW STORY ABOUT THE CLAIMANT

Not long since the Argonaut San Francisco published an article of great length, understood to be written by Mr Alexander Delmar setting forth that the defeat of Horatio Seymour in 1868 was effected by a treacherous intrigue of Samuel J Tilden aided by his accomplices and tools, August Belmont and Manton Marble The writer claims to have been personally cognizant of most of the facts and puts his information in the shape of an open letter to John Kelly giving reasons why Mr. Tilden should not be the democratic candidate next year Tilden he says was not the originator of the scheme to crush Seymour but really came into the plot after had been started and t h came director of it Pendleton h [illegible] d sired the nomination for the presidency that a [illegible] and is represented as very [illegible] He and [illegible] mour as the bu [illegible] [illegible] and Tilden a member of the national democratic committee [illegible] with [illegible] of the New York H[illegible] came upon the scene His object was to [illegible] Seymour's downfall get the control of the New York democracy in his own hand and advance his own already pronounced presidential ambitions With this view he in spired the famous article in the World of Oct. 15 1868 declaring the battle lost and demanding the removal of Seymour from the ticket The author of this narrative says he was himself present at a meeting of the national democratic committee a few days later called for the purpose of disavowing the article and holding up Mr Seymour All the members except Tilden signed the disavowal willingly but he made objections and finally took the paper away saying he would sign it and make it public when he had seen Belmont The paper however never saw the light and Seymour was robbed of the support it would have given him It is not probable there is much in the story since Seymour had no chance of election in any event But it nevertheless obtains some appearance of plausibility from the well known character of Mr Tilden as an intriguer for his own selfish ends

Of the states which held elections last Tuesday Mississippi is the only one reported in which the democrats have a clear victory The Yahoos of Yazoo are solid of course Representative Singleton who is making an effort to succeed Bruce in the senate recently had a big meeting at Yazoo City at which he made a speech indorsing Dixon's assassination justifying it as necessary to save the country from race issues Singleton confessed in 1875 that he owed his election to congress to Dixon more than to any other man Dixon was Singleton's chief bulldozer but as soon as it suited his interests to quit that business become a candidate on his own account and insist on the right of an opposition party to exist in Mississippi in Singleton's opinion it became proper to murder him Both Yazoo and Kemper counties are in Singleton's district The Yahoos have made this a democratic stronghold but at the cost of all the prospects of their party in the northern states

---

It may be proper to say that the decision of our supreme court in the case of Walker vs Teal which is being criticised so much both in our own state and California was not concurred in by the full bench Justice Boise did not participate in the hearing since as circuit judge he had already heard it and rendered judgment the other way The opinion was by Justices Kelly and Prim

---

It seems impossible yet to tell which party has carried the general ticket in New York Latest figures given make the republicans a few hundred ahead on secretary of state But when it is so close the result as a political indication for the future affords no sure ground for judgment and therefore except to the parties immediately interested is of no particular consequence.

An inquirer desires to know in what poem of Byron's we find the line, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned We don't find it in Byron and never professed to But in Congreve's Mourning Bride we read

Heaven hath no rage like love to hatred turned
Nor hell a fury like a woman scorned

The fact that the opportunity for a decisive republican victory in New York was lost through Senator Conkling's offensive dictation will not incline anybody to support him in the national convention for the presidency

It begins to look now as if the democratic party— the organized appetite it has been called—had been nearer the feed trough in 1876 than it ever will be again

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—12:35 A. M.—For Washington, partly cloudy weather and light rains in Oregon.

CITY.

A PORTLAND PARTICIPANT.—Among those mentioned as taking part in the Authors' Carnival recently held in San Francisco, we note the name of Miss Etta Tracy, daughter of Mrs. Dr. J. H. Hatch, formerly of this city. The Chronicle speaks of the young lady thus: "Lady Nottingham—Miss Etta Tracy, one of the most beautiful ladies in the carnival, a brunette with exquisite eyes which are called 'wells of light,' drooped with long sweeping eyelashes; ashes of roses, watered silk, pink satin front festooned with pearls, diamond jewelry; a dead gold cigarette bands pink ostrich feathers in the dark hair, which overhangs an unnaturally white forehead with vivid effect."

INCIDENT OF PIONEER DAYS.—The following incident is told of the late J. J. Burton, who landed on the present site of Portland in 1844. He and Capt. John H. Couch concluded that this was the point for a city, and Mr. Burton made a mark on a tree at the foot of what is now A street, and Couch said, "I will take up my claim one mile down the river, and you take yours one mile up the river," and they did so. Sickness, however, soon discouraged Mr. Burton, and he abandoned the claim and removed to Yamhill county, where he settled upon some of the best farming land he could find, which he continued to own until his death.

A FINE PICTURE.—The most handsome and elaborate sketch of the city of Portland which has yet been made is exhibited by Mr. E. S. Glover, who proposes to lithograph the same and publish it, as soon as subscriptions can be obtained to justify the venture. Portland, as seen in this picture, presents a most charming appearance. Every single building in it is specially sketched. East Portland is also represented with the same distinctness, accuracy and detail. We notice the names of many of our prominent citizens in the list of subscribers, and hope the picture will soon be published.

GOOD COAL.—On two occasions the steamship State of California has taken coal from the mine of the Thurston Coal Company, each time 100 tons; and she will take 100 tons more on her present trip. This coal is being rapidly introduced in this city for domestic use. It is bright and clean, and burns without offensive odor or smoke. Many who have tried it are well satisfied with it as fuel. The coal is brought by rail from Seatco to Kalama, and thence by barge to Portland.

UNDER BONDS.—The two celestials who were arrested for robbing their countryman of $100 last Monday, were held to answer the charge before the grand jury. Their bonds were fixed at $500 each. The defendants were committed to jail in default. Fred Usher and John Hogan, charged with larceny from a dwelling, had an examination yesterday afternoon in the police court. The defendants were bound over in the sum of $250 each.

INSTALLATION.—Nonpareil Lodge, I. O. G. T., met at their hall Wednesday evening and installed the following officers, Mr. Wm. Landberg, S. D., officiating: W. C. T., E. W. Ryan; W. V. T., E. A. Colly; Sec., W. A. Robinson; Assistant Sec., D. E. Taylor; F. S., T. T. Barker; Treasurer, Annie Best; M., Wm. Haslett; D. M., D. C. Shell; Chaplain, George Fowle; G. S., A. Robinson; S., Jacob Crosby; P. W. C. T., W. S. James.

ENTIRELY TOO NOISY.—The engineers of the fire department need to be informed that yesterday was not the 4th of July, nor centennial New Years, and that the Grant reception is over. Last night, when they came home from their run towards Eighth and Taylor the engineers opened the whistles and kept up a deafening din for at least ten minutes. The racket was entirely uncalled for, and should be dispensed with in future.

THE BOSS SQUASH.—There is on exhibition at the westside depot a squash which is five feet and nine inches in circumference and weighs 109 pounds. This mammoth vegetable was raised by Mr. Peter Brooks, of Cornelius, Washington county. It is the boss squash, and is clearly entitled to take the medal. It may be added the measurement of the squash was by no "expert," but was strictly on the square.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The open temperance meeting will be held in the new hall of the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow (Saturday) evening. A splendid programme has been prepared. The choir of the Congregational church, under the leadership of Prof. Cook, will be present and render some fine selections of vocal and instrumental music. Good speaking, recitations, etc.

CHANGED HANDS.—B. B. Acker has disposed of his entire interest in the City Stables to Messrs. Holcomb Bros. & Co., of San Francisco. The entire department will be under the immediate charge and supervision of Mr. James W. Leithy, who has had many years' experience in the above business, both in the eastern states and California.

DIED SUDDENLY.—Last Tuesday Mr. H. Baldock, an old and respected citizen of Walla Walla valley, died rather suddenly at his home. He attended the Mechanics' Fair in this city last week in his usual good health and had been sick but a few days when called to the other shore. Deceased was a relative of Mr. J. P. [illegible], Lowndale.

ALARM OF FIRE.—The department was called out at twenty minutes past 7 last night by a slight blaze in the roof of the residence of Geo. [illegible], Esq., corner Eighth and Taylor. The companies responded promptly, but their services fortunately were not needed, as the fire was extinguished with a few buckets of water.

CHILDREN'S ENTERTAINMENT.—The little folks of the Unitarian Society will hold a social gathering at the chapel this (Friday) evening. One of the novel features of the entertainment will be candy pulling. Parents are cordially invited to come with the children. Admission, children 10c, adults 25c.

PORTLAND CITY DIRECTORY.—Mr. D. J. Edwards, who, for a time, was connected with the Oregon City Enterprise, has commenced the work of collecting material and compiling a new City Directory. It is his purpose to make the forthcoming publication as complete and accurate as possible.

ENDORSED BY NO. FOUR.—At the regular meeting of Protection Engine Co. No. 4, Thomas A. Jordan was unanimously endorsed as chief engineer of the fire department. R. A. Sprague was nominated for assistant engineer.

FINED—DISCHARGED.—Caples and the two Grounds, charged with an assault upon Henry Harris, had an examination Wednesday before Justice Bybee. The two Grounds were discharged, and Caples was convicted and fined $50.

FROM ASTORIA.—A dispatch from Astoria to the Merchants' Exchange at 4 P. M. yesterday says that the bark Isle of Bute dragged ashore last night, but got off to-day with the assistance of a steamer. No damage.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce a decision this morning in this court in the case of Aiken vs. Ferry.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

For weeks past the street intersection and cross walks at the junction of Morrison with Twelfth street have been torn up and demolished. It is said that the contractor who laid the macadam between Eleventh and Twelfth streets interfered with the intersection, by mistake, the same being beyond the limits of his contract. The heavy rains of winter is upon us, and those citizens who live west of the mud hole thus created, desire to know whether our city authorities intend to permit the nuisance to remain through the winter. [illegible] whose business it is [illegible] this matter without delay, the [illegible] of an appeal to the proper legal tribunal will be tried very soon.

November 6, 1879. TAX PAYER.

NOTICE.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Aid Society will be held at the [illegible] Taylor street M. E. church this Friday afternoon at half past 2 o'clock. E. F. [illegible], Secretary.

GLASS.—Goggins & Beach have just received 300 boxes of single and double thick glass, which they are selling at lowest rates.

Armory Hall having been engaged by the walkers, Hauptmann's dancing academy will be closed for two weeks.

BRIEF NOTES.

Mercury goes down a little.

"Pinafore" matinee to-morrow.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN out and for sale.

Last opportunity to witness "Pinafore" to-morrow evening.

The fence around the East Portland park has been torn down.

J. Van Beurden has removed to 167 First street, J. K. Gill & Co.'s old stand.

Albert Barth, agent for the "Steinway" has removed to [illegible] Building.

J. W. Sloan, [illegible], has been appointed a regular policeman vice Terry McManus removed.

Messrs Gille & M. E. Fisher have removed to the store formerly occupied by Wm. Currier & Co., 73 First street.

There will be stated communication of Portland Lodge No. 55, A. F. and A. M., at their lodge room, Masonic Temple, this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Wm. Currier & Co. have removed to their large and magnificent new store in Union Hall, No. 91 First street. Elsewhere will be found an important announcement made by this firm.

FLEET FOOTISTS.

Commencing Saturday evening the female pedestrians, Miss Belle Sherman, Miss Sadie Donley, Miss Alice Donley and Miss Lillie Denman, will appear in 1000 quarter-mile walks and exhibition walks at Turn Halle.

At the six day go-as-you-please walking match, at the Mechanics' pavilion, San Francisco, the following was the official score: Miss Belle Sherman, 1st prize, 337 miles; Miss Susie Donley, 2d prize, 32 miles; Miss Maynard, 3d prize, 3?8 miles, Miss Alice Donley, 4th prize 289 miles. Miss Von Berg, 242 miles; Miss Susie Wiley, 202 miles; Miss Florence, 111 miles. The prizes were: 1st, diamond medal and $281 71; 2d, gold medal and $787 82; 3d, $355 67; 4th, $234 20, being their respective shares of the gate money. The winners of the match will appear in exhibition walks at Turn Halle, commencing Saturday evening, November 8th, at 8 o'clock.

To-morrow evening the test of endurance and exhibition walks will commence at the new Armory Hall, corner of Washington and Front streets, by the following champions: Miss Bertha Von Berg of New York, Miss Susie Wiley of San Francisco and Miss Grace Florence. Miss Von Berg is the winner of the Walton belt, which is now on exhibition at Henrichsen & Greenberg's store on First street.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

[From the Advocate and Sentinel.

Religious services are in progress every evening this week at Hall Street M. E. Church.

Rev. G. W. Izer, formerly pastor of Taylor Street M. E. Church in this city, has lately been appointed to the pastorate of the First Church of Auburn, New York.

Archbishop Seghers was at Boise City on the 30th ult. and after visiting Catholics in the adjacent country, his grace will start for Baker City on Thursday, the 20th inst. In all probability the archbishop will arrive in Portland early in December.

The Bulls nominating Rt. Rev. John Baptiste Brondle, of Steilacoom, in the diocese of Nesqualy, as bishop of Vancouver Island, reached Archbishop Blanchet on Monday evening last, and were forwarded to the Rt. Rev. Bishop Junger for action. We congratulate both the bishop elect and the people over whom he is in future to hold spiritual jurisdiction upon the happy event.

The quarterly communion service was largely attended last Sabbath at Taylor street M. E. Church. A class of six was received into full membership, two of whom were baptized; two members were also received by certificate. The quarterly conference was held on Monday evening; the pastor's report showed twelve members received during the quarter, and ten dismissed by certificate, one received on probation, and one death.

MILITARY PERSONALS.

[Vancouver Independent.]

Col. E. C. Mason returned on Tuesday from his inspection tour to Fort Harney and Boise barracks.

Capt. Edward Hunter, 1st cavalry, en route to the east on leave of absence, spent Sunday at the barracks.

The Indian prisoners captured by Lieut. Farrow, now neatly clad in military dress, are being made useful on road improvements at the garrison.

Lieut. T. W. Symons, chief engineer officer of the department, has returned to the post, having completed the surveys of Fort Coeur d'Alene and the Lake Chelan post.

Lieut. Daniel Cornman, 21st infantry, and family left on the Oregon to enjoy a five months' leave of absence granted the former, and which they expect to spend in Southern California.

A general court martial has been in session at the barracks this week, trying several deserters. Captain W. H. Boyle president and Lieut. E. B. Rheem judge advocate of the court.

The board of managers of the Y. M. C. A. earnestly desire the hearty co-operation of the various churches of the city in the observance of this week of prayer. Clip this out for reference.

"IS IT REALLY JACK BISHOP?

The man arrested Wednesday at the instigation of Detective J. C. Ross, charged with the murder of Jacob Snyder, was visited yesterday by P. H. Hurley, a compositor of this city, who says that he knows the prisoner that his name is Ben Wing, and that he was formerly clerk in a hardware store in Georgetown, Colorado, and bears no resemblance whatever to Jack Bishop.

The detective Ross affirms the statement made last night that he is sure he has the right man, and that he will take his prisoner to Colorado as soon as the requisition is received.

An attorney of this city offered to apply for a writ of habeas corpus for the prisoner yesterday, but the latter declined his services, stating that he preferred to be taken back to Colorado and vindicate himself there.

NOT FOR THE WEST SIDE ROAD.

The following item appeared in yesterday's OREGONIAN:

The Astorian says: "The Dixie brought the new barge down to Astoria and placed her alongside the Tecumseh to receive the iron for the Western Oregon railroad which will be sent to Benton county to complete the road to Corvallis."

Gen. J. W. Sprague, who arrived in this city last night, met an OREGONIAN reporter, and, referring to the above item, said pleasantly: "I don't care if you reporters take that iron to the west side road on paper, but if you lay it on their grade it will seriously embarrass the Northern Pacific folks, and you'd probably make me very angry."

AMUSEMENTS.

Pinafore will be repeated to-night at New Market Theater. To-morrow afternoon a matinee performance will be given to accommodate ladies and little folks. A large number of seats have been taken, and a jammed house may be anticipated. To-morrow evening will be the last presentation of Pinafore. Remember, only three more opportunities to witness this brilliant opera.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE SOUND.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.

An enquiry into the supposed discovery of petroleum in this county goes to prove that there is nothing in it.

The construction of the new steamboat here for parties in San Francisco, mentioned some time ago, will be commenced about the middle of February.

During the month of November 5898 tons of coal were shipped from this port to San Francisco. The shipment was cut short somewhat on account of the non arrival of vessels.

The good people of Steilacoom have made a standing offer to any party or parties who will come there and establish a manufactory of any sort, $2000 in cash and a valuable property besides.

From a gentleman who recently made a thorough investigation of the matter, we learn that there are now 256 buildings in process of construction or just completed within the corporate limits of Seattle.

Mr. Martin Bulgar, who came here in the interest of San Francisco capitalists, to make an examination of the Carbon river coal mines, expresses himself as favorably disappointed with the mines, both as to their extent and value.

The machinery for the new barrel factory is expected to arrive soon. Superintendent Root, who is now in San Francisco, will return at the same time. After the machinery arrives the establishment will soon be put in active operation.

Those best informed among our business men are of the opinion that next season will witness a great revival of business throughout this territory, both east and west. With the building of the Northern Pacific railroad, an increased production of wheat, a rush to the gold mines of both Eastern and Western Washington, just now so promising, and an improvement in the coal and lumber markets, now probable, every branch of business must necessarily revive.

Cranberries are coming in in considerable abundance from the lower Sound, and are now retailing in this market at 50 cents per gallon. The crop, however, will not be nearly so heavy this season as last. But notwithstanding this fact, the supply is likely to greatly exceed the demand. Last year 3000 gallons were shipped away from this city to Portland and San Francisco by one firm alone. Of the total product of this or even last season we are not, however, able to form an estimate.

More wheat has been produced on the sound this year than during any two or perhaps three years previous and the indications are that wheat will soon become one of our chief agricultural products. Heretofore it has been claimed that wheat could not be successfully produced here. Generally wet weather has set in before the crop matured, and for this reason it was claimed that the dry season was to short for wheat. Many of our farmers, however, have finally solved the problem by sowing their wheat in the fall. Even on the Swinomish flats, where the seasons are most backward, winter sown wheat has done well this season, with the exception that the wire worm has to some extent proved destructive to the crop. All things considered, however, we believe that as fine wheat and as much to the acre can be produced on Puget sound as in Western Oregon, providing our farmers sow their crop in the fall instead of in the spring as heretofore.

Our markets are now stocked with wild ducks, selling at $2 50 per dozen. The recent heavy rains have brought a large flight from the northern breeding ground and the Swinomish flats, the principal feeding ground of the Sound is now swarming with wild ducks. During this season many white men make a business of hunting the wily bird. The occupation proves more profitable than one would at first suppose. A hunter will frequently procure four dozen birds a day. The Indians who are probably the most successful hunters, seldom ever use a rifle. They pursue their game at night in a canoe with a bright torch light attached to the bow, and in this way, stealing upon the birds in flocks, bewildered by the reflection of the glaring light in the water about them, swoop down upon them with a large net attached to the end of a long pole, and frequently procure a dozen or two at a haul.

Ex-Chief Justice R. Lewis, who has just returned from Walla Walla and the country east of the mountains, informs your correspondent that a general revival of business is noticeable throughout that section. Notwithstanding the increased facilities for transportation, it will be found impossible to remove but a portion of the immense wheat crop this season. At the time of his departure, the judge states that there were 13,000 tons of wheat stored at Walla Walla, and over 6000 tons at Weston, while it was coming in to the former place at the rate of 300 and the latter at the rate of 100 tons per day. For over a month past the Snake river has been unnavigable on account of low water, while wheat is being hauled down from Dayton, a distance of 25 miles. Above this point, however no effort is being made to move the crop, as it does not pay to haul a greater distance than this with wheat at 50 cents per bushel. For the same reason no wheat will be shipped from the upper Kittitas valley. The crop of this valley and the Snake river country this season is large. We have no conception, he states, of the wonderful productive capacity of this entire eastern country. More wheat, he says, will remain unshipped in that country this season than has been shipped out of it during any previous year. Upon your correspondent manifesting some surprise at this statement he assured him that it was nevertheless a fact. The section of the Northern Pacific railroad now being constructed, which he says will be completed by mid summer from Snake river to Big Lake, will open up a district of country 50x100 miles in extent, or containing 5000 square miles. In three years hence he claims that section may produce more wheat than can be crowded down the Columbia river with present facilities, and three years hence the Judge believes the Northern Pacific Railroad Company will have extended its branch across the Cascade mountains to Puget Sound, when the immense future trade of this great section of country will be divided up between the Columbia river and Puget Sound. The Columbia, he says, must ever remain like the Mississippi, a great artery of commerce but it alone, with the enormous increase in the grain product of the eastern country will prove inadequate to the task of bearing this burden of wealth to the sea. As to just where this line will cross the mountains is a matter yet entirely unknown even to the company itself, and a question not to be decided probably for a year hence. As to where the terminus will be the Judge is not yet quite certain. He is of the opinion, however, that Tacoma will be the point unless it should happen that during the next three years, as now seems probable, Seattle should make such rapid progress that the company will be compelled to come here in order to run to trade.

THE GRISWOLD CASE.

HOLMES VS. MITCHELL—A STATEMENT FROM MR. HOLMES.

It seems from a late publication that Mr John H. Mitchell is in Washington, seeking to procure a pardon for W. C. Griswold. No one assumes to object to Mr. Mitchell engaging in any business that is in accord with his peculiar tastes, but the undersigned protests against his mode of procedure, especially when he uses my name and falsely represents me as an impeached witness. In his effort to procure a pardon for Griswold, (that he might secure his fee,) he seeks to deceive the president in regard to my testimony. In his brief to the president he says that "many witnesses were called by the defence to impeach Holmes' character for truth and veracity and a lesser number was called to sustain it." This, if true, was equivalent to a successful impeachment, which idea he seeks to convey to the president as the fact. He also asserts that the court disregarded my testimony and it was dropped out of the case. Now I assert that the innuendo that I was impeached or that there was a less number of witnesses called to sustain my character, or that the court regarded my testimony as being dropped out of the case, are each and all of them absolutely false; and that Mr. Mitchell knew them to be false when he wrote them is certain, for the records of the court show that the number of sustaining witnesses was three to one, and in their character and standing the first men in Oregon. So the people of Oregon can plainly see that Mr. Mitchell, that he might get a pardon of Griswold pelf, has deliberately and willfully falsified the facts in the case to the president of the United States, and caused his slander to be published. The whole brief is but a disingenuous effort to deceive.

Judge Deady, in his charge to the jury, in speaking of the effort to impeach says: "It is what the community say about him, not what some one who is an enemy or has some pique against him and speaks against him. Those who spoke for him much exceed in number and in general standing and intelligence those who spoke against him." And the judge closes with this language: "For my part, speaking as a judge, I think the weight of the testimony is in favor of the witness and should say that his reputation for truth and veracity is good."

Now in the face of all these facts and of the record John H. Mitchell has slanderously and it would seem maliciously and intentionally falsified the facts that he might deceive and mislead the president into a remission of this judgment. He scruples not, it seems, with his poisoned stiletto to stab in the back any one to accomplish his purpose.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence The Kaiser celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung diseases. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry, etc. Is rendered perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents at Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, Utah and numerous other places, whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Kaiser. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted, free of charge, by druggists. No such test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia when a single bottle of DR MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulate the bowels, is sugar-coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has out of [illegible] outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Charles, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative.

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

THE WHITE RIVER MASSACRE.

MISS JOSEPHINE MEEKER'S STATEMENT.

Repetition of the Story of Trouble about the Plowing--The Murder of the Agent and his Assistants--Journey of the Captive Women and Children.

Miss Josephine, daughter of the late Agent Meeker, who was murdered by the Utes, gives by letter the following account of the massacre at White river, the captivity of herself with others, and their rescue by Gen. Adams:

The first that I heard of any trouble with any Indians at my father's agency was firing at Mr. Price while he was plowing for the Indian crops according to government instructions. The Indian had an idea and said that as soon as the land was plowed it would cease to belong to the Utes. Two or three councils were held, and an Indian woman, Jane, wife of Pahvitts, was the cause of the whole trouble. The trouble seemed to be settled by two or three councils. Secretly, however, the Utes were preparing for a massacre, for just before Eskridge left with the Indians a runner was seen rushing up to the tent of Douglass with what I since learned was news of the soldiers fighting. Half an hour later twenty armed Indians came to the agency from the camp of Douglass and began firing. The massacre began. I was in the kitchen with my mother, washing dishes. It was afternoon. I looked out of the window and saw the Utes shooting the boys who were working on the new building. Mrs. Price was at the door washing clothes. She rushed in and took Johnnie, the baby to fly. We ran into the milk room, which had only one small window, and locked the door and hid under a shelf. The firing went on for several hours at intervals. There was no shouting, no noise, but frequent firing. We stayed in the milk-room until it began to fill with smoke. The sun was half an hour high. I took May Price, three years old, and we all ran to father's room. It was not disturbed. We knew the building would be burned, and ran across Douglass avenue to a field of sagebrush beyond the plowed ground. The Utes were so busy stealing annuity goods that they didn't see us at first. About thirty of them, loaded with blankets, were carrying them to Douglass' camp near the river. We had gone 100 yards when the Utes saw us. They threw down the blankets and came running toward us, firing as they came. The bullets whizzed as thick as grasshoppers around us. I do not think they intended to kill, only to frighten us. Mother was hit by a bullet, which went through her underclothing and made a flesh wound three inches long. As the Indians came near they shouted, "We no shoot; come to us." I had a little girl, and an Indian named Pursune said for me to go with him. He and another Ute seized me by the arms and started toward the river. An Uncompahgre Indian took Mrs. Price and her baby and mother to the headquarters of Douglass. The Indian Pursune took me, where his ponies were standing by the river and seated me on a pile of blankets. The Indians were now on all sides. I could not escape. It was now sundown. The packing was finished at dusk and we started for the wilderness of the south. I rode on a horse with a saddle, but no bridle. The child was lashed behind me. Pursune and his assistant rode on each side of me driving the pack mules ahead. About twenty other Indians were in the party. Mother came later, riding bareback behind Douglass, both on one horse. She was sixty-four years old, feeble in health, wounded, and not recovered from a broken thigh caused by a fall two years ago. Chief Douglass gave her neither horse, saddle nor blankets. We followed the river, and on the other side Pursune brought me a hatful of water to drink. We trotted along until 9 o'clock, when we halted for a half hour. All the Indians dismounted, and blankets were spread upon the ground and I lay down to rest, with mother lying not far from me. Chief Douglass was considerably excited and made a speech to me, with many gestures and great emphasis. He recited his grievances and explained why the massacre began. He said that Thornburgh told the Indians he was going to arrest the head chiefs, take them to Fort Steele and put them in a calaboose, perhaps hang them. He said my father had written all the letters to the Denver papers and circulated wild reports about what the Indians would do, and was responsible for all the hostility against the Indians among the whites. While Douglass was talking this, he stood in front of me with his gun, and his anger was dreadful. He said that father had always been writing to Washington. Then he swore a fearful oath in English, and said that if the soldiers had not come and threatened the Indians with Fort Steele and the calaboose, and threatened to kill the other Indians at White river, the agent would not have been massacred. Then the brave chief, Douglass, who had eaten at our table that very day, walked off a few feet, returned and placed his loaded gun to my forehead three times, and asked me if I was going to run away. I told him I was not afraid of him nor of death, and should not run away. When he found his repeated threats could not frighten me, all the Indians turned on him and laughed at him, and made so much fun that he sneaked off and went over to frighten my mother. All hands took a drink around my bed. Then they saddled their horses, and Pursune led my horse to me, and knelt down on his hands and knees for me to mount my horse from his back. We urged our horses forward, and journeyed in the moonlight through the grand mountains, with the Indians talking in low tones among themselves. It was after midnight when we made a second halt in a deep and sombre canyon. Mother was not allowed to come up; Douglass kept her with him, half a mile further down the ravine. Then the squaws came and laughed, and grinned and gibbered. When I had lain down on the blankets two squaws sang and danced fantastically at my feet. The other Indians stood around, and when the women reached a certain part of their recitative, all broke out in laughter. Next day Pursune went to fight the soldiers and placed me in charge of his wife with her three children. That same day mother came up to see me, in company with a little Indian girl. On Wednesday, the next day, Johnson went over to Jack's camp and brought back Mrs. Price and her baby to live in his camp. He said that he had made it all right with the other Utes. We did not do anything but visit in the other camps, and listen to the talk of the squaws, whose husbands were away fighting the soldiers. On Sunday night Jack came and made a big speech, also Johnson. They said that more troops were coming, and recited what orders had been brought from Chief Ouray. They were in great consternation and did not know what to do. They talked all night, and the next morning struck their tents and put them up again. Part were for going away, part for staying. We had a long ride. The cavalcade was fully two miles long. The wind blew a hurricane, and the dust was so thick that we could not see ten feet back. Most of the Indians had no breakfast, and we traveled all day without dinner or water. Mother had neither saddle nor stirrup, but merely a few thicknesses of canvas strapped on the horse's back, while the young chiefs pranced round on good saddles. She did not reach Grand river until after dark, and the ride, for an invalid and aged woman, was long and distressing. After marching south some days the Indians said they would stay at their camp, and if the soldiers advanced they would get them in a canyon and kill them all. The Utes were now close to the Uncompahgre district and could not retreat much farther. Eight miles' more travel, in two other days, brought us to the camping ground where Gen. Adams found us. This was near Plateau creek, but high up and not far from the snow range.

On Monday night an Uncompahgre Ute came in and said that the next day Gen. Adams, whom they called Washington, was coming after the captives. On the next day, about 11, while sewing in Pursune's tent, his boy came in, picked up the buffalo robe and wanted me to go to bed. I told him that I was not sleepy. Then a squaw came and hung a blanket before the door, and spread out both hands to keep the blanket down, so that I could not push it away; but I looked over the top and saw General Adams and his party outside on horses. The squaw's movements attracted their attention, and they came up close. I pushed a squaw aside and walked out. They asked my name and dismounted, and said they had come to take us back if we cared to go. I showed them the tent where mother and Mrs. Price were stopping. On the next morning we left for Uncompahgre in charge of Captain Cline and Mr. Sherman. To these gentlemen we were indebted for a safe and rapid journey to Ouray's house on the Uncompahgre river, near Los Pinos. We rode on ponies forty miles the three first days, and reached Captain Cline's wagon on a small tributary of the Grande. Here we took a buckboard wagon and traveled next day to the Gunnison river; and the next and last day of fear we traveled forty-five miles and reached the house of the good chief Ouray about sundown. Here Inspector Pollock and enough. We found carpets on the floor and curtains on the windows, lamps on the tables and stoves with fires. We were given the whole house, and after supper went to bed and slept without much fear, though mother was still haunted by the horrors she had passed through. Next morning we breakfasted with Mrs. Ouray who shed tears over us as she bade us "good-bye." Then we took mail-wagons and stages for home. In closing this letter, I want to thank Chief Ouray, his wife, and General Adams. To them we owe our escape.

THE "PIZEN-CLEAN" WOMAN.

Cleanliness is an excellent acquirement. It is so great an acquirement that one does not wonder that the sentence, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" was popularly supposed for an indefinite period, to be a quotation from the Bible. Cleanliness is the chief distinction between the tramp and many millionaires, albeit there have been many millionaires who could not claim even this advantage over the tramp. But the sentence "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" cannot be found in the Bible, nevertheless. You cannot have too much Godliness, too much temperance, too much discretion, too much wisdom, but you can have too much neatness. There have been overneat men. We have met one or two in our time. They always get up in the night to eat, and are enemies of sleep as they are of dirt. But they are not so numerous nor pestiferous as the overneat woman.

Who has not met the overneat woman? We do not need to describe her. But we will. Revenge is sweet. She makes her husband exchange his boots for slippers on the doorstep. No matter how low the thermometer or barometer, the poor fellow must doff his boots in the porch. Is he wet? He must stay on the stoop till he has done dripping. Consumption? What is that compared with a soiled carpet? The small boy, what a life he leads with such a mother. Followed about by a dust pan and brush and a scolding voice, the hyperneat woman is always cross. In his childhood's days, he runs early to a club room or a beer saloon, where he can see a little rubbish and find the luxury of dirt. We once knew a lady of this character who, when lightning providentially struck her house and killed a servant, swept up the evidencing dirt the shock had dislodged before the coroner could be called.

These "pizen-clean" women always hate to have company. "Guests are so dirty, you know." The parlor is kept dark and unused from year to year. The carpet would fade and dust would accrue. We once knew a woman who refused to open her parlor for the wedding of her daughter. "The street is too dusty," she said. She is dust now. They opened the parlor for the funeral, and one almost wonders that she did not turn over in her coffin.

The overneat woman cleans house twice a year. Twice a year the uncomfortable husband and children are made doubly uncomfortable. The weakness of the flesh alone deters her from cleaning house every moon. The overneat woman delights to make people uncomfortable. She is thin, dyspeptic, has nerves, is troubled with dirt on the brain. Dirt on the brain is wearing to the constitution, and the hyperneat woman nearly always dies young. If she did not nearly all her household would. Her husband always has another chance. This is a dispensation of Providence. We write with some feeling on this subject, although, thank God, we have only seen the over-neat woman afar off. But we have seen the lives of good men embittered, we have seen boys driven to ruin, and girls imbued with such a hatred of cleanliness that they have become very slatterns, by overneat wives and mothers.

Domestic Produce.

We note rather more dullness in the wheat trade to-day, though there are some lots offering and some transactions occurring. There seems to be a sort of backwardness among most of the buyers, induced probably by the reports from England and the immense quantity of the cereal now being sent forward from the Atlantic coast. A New York exchange says:

> Within the past two months there have been exported from the Atlantic seaboard cities to Europe 37,224,750 bushels of wheat, 2,861,532 bushels in flour, making a total of 40,035,292 bushels, and from the Pacific coast 2,800,000 bushels. Such enormous shipments, if continued at this rate until February next, would exhaust the surplus supply in the market, and the price would rapidly advance. Already the market rate has risen here about 15 cents per bushel, notwithstanding the fact that there have been received within the same period at the Atlantic ports from the grain regions about 50,000,000 bushels in wheat and flour, leaving an excess of supply on hand over exports of about 10,000,000 bushels.

About 25 vessels have loaded with Oregon wheat since harvest and fourteen more are in the river, all with the exception of one or two under engagement. There have been half a dozen arrivals since our last weekly report, four under previous charter and two disengaged. Freight rates are still firm, as high as 70s being demanded in San Francisco. Under these circumstances only the shortness of the supplies in Europe could sustain the market in its present state. About the highest prices paid within the last week has been $1 97½ for a choice lot of valley wheat, but it is doubtful if it would command over $1 95 at this time, and for ordinary parcels the figure would be 2½@5c lower.

Flour is coming forward pretty freely and the trade is considered active. Some sales on private terms have been made of large lots for export to Europe. Jobbers are selling at $6 for best brands. Oats are again moving slowly, though some improvement was noticed early in the week. Hay, mill feed, etc., are in good supply at former quotations, with some activity in the local trade. Potatoes come to market in large quantities and the prices obtained are very low.

Provisions are firmer with a better demand both for the home trade and for shipment. Side meats and hams have advanced 1@1½c per pound. Lard is steady at the figures given below.

Choice dairy products sell freely at full rates while common or inferior lots, as usual are in excess of the demand. Eggs are scarcer and jobbing at 30c. Chickens in better supply and lower.

Home Produce Market.

KING OF THE BLOOD

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.

It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health, and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by Dealers in medicine.

OVERALLS

Are sold by leading dealers in this city and on this coast, because—

"THEY CONTAIN THE BEST MATERIAL,

ARE SEWN WITH LINEN THREAD,

And ARE THE MOST PERFECT FITTING."

In putting on or taking off Overalls, the strain on the crotch often causes them to rip, and to remedy this we are making a continuous strip of cloth, extending the entire length of both sides of the Overall from the crotch and secured thereto at every point. Under these improvements, we claim that our Overalls will stand greater strain than any other make in the market.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast,

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There is much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH.

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.
